The Gentleman
From Indiana

The old gentleman chuckled and looked out of the corner of his eye at his daughter, whose expression was inscrutable.

"I!" cried Helen. "I tell him! No one must tell him. He need never know it."

Briscoe reached back and patted her cheek. "How long do you suppose he will be here in Plattville without its leaking out?"

"But when they kept watch over him for months nobody told him."

"Ah," said Briscoe, "but this is different."

"No, no, no," she exclaimed. "It must be kept from him somehow."

"He'll know it by tomorrow; so you better tell him this evening."

"This evening?"

"Yes; you'll have a good chance."

"I will!"

"He's coming to supper with us—he and your father, of course, and Keating and Bence and Boswell and Smith and Tom Martin and Lige. We're going to have a big time, with you and Minnie to do the honors, and we're all coming into town afterward for the fireworks, and I'll let him drive you in the phonograph. You'll have plenty of chances to talk it over with him and tell him all about it."

Helen gave a little gasp. "Never!" she cried. "Never!"

The buckboard stopped on the Herald corner, and here and along Main street the line of vehicles which had followed it from the station took positions to await the parade. The square was almost a solid mass of bunting, and the north entrance of the courthouse had been decorated with streamers and flags so as to make a sort of stand.

Hither the crowd was already streaming and hither the procession made its way. At intervals the gun boomed from the station, and Schofield's Henry was winnowing the air with his bell.

Nobody had a better time that day than Schofield's Henry, except old Wilkerson, who was with the procession.

In advance came the boys, whooping and somersaulting, and behind them rode a band of mounted men, sitting their horses like cavaliers, led by the sheriff and his deputy and Jim Bardlock. Then followed the Harkless club of Amos, led by Boswell, with the magnanimous Halloway himself marching in the ranks, and at sight of this the people shouted like madmen. But when Helen's eye fell upon Halloway's face, rather unhappy face she felt a pang of pity and unreasoning remorse, which warned her that he who looks upon politics when it is red must steel his eyes to see many a man with the heartburn. After the men of Amos came the Harkless club of Gainesville, Mr. Bence in the van with the step of a grenadier. There followed next Mr. Ephraim Watts, bearing a light wand in his hand and leading a detachment of workers from the oil field in their stained blue overalls and blouses, and after them came Mr. Martin and Mr. Landis at the head of an organization recognized in the Herald as "the business men of Plattville." The band played in such magnificent time that every high stepping foot in all the line came down with the same jubilant plunk and lifted again with a unanimity as complete as that of the last vote the convention had taken that day. The leaders of the procession set a brisk pace, and who could have set any other kind of a pace when on parade to the strains of such a band playing such a tune as "A New Coon In Town" with all its might and main?

But as the line swung into the square there came a moment when the tune was ended and the musicians paused for breath and there fell comparative quiet. Among the ranks of the "business men" ambled Mr. Wilkerson, singing at the top of his voice, and now he could be heard distinctly enough for those near him to distinguish the melody with which it was his intention to favor the public:

"Glory, glory, hallelujah!"

The words, the air, that husky voice, recalled to the men of Carlow another day and another procession not like this one. And the song Wilkerson was singing is the one song every northern born American knows and can sing.

The leader of the band caught the sound, signaled to his men, twenty instruments rose as one to twenty mouths, the snare drum rattled, the big drum crashed, the leader threw his baton high over his head, and music burst from twenty brazen throats:

"Glory, glory, hallelujah!"

Instantaneously the whole procession began to sing the refrain, and the people in the street and those in the wagons and carriages and those leaning from the windows joined with one accord. The ringing bells caught the time of the song, and the upper air reverberated in the rhythm.

The Harkless club of Carlow wheeled into Main street, 200 strong, with their banners and transparencies. Lige Willets rode at their head, and behind him strode William Todd and Parker and Ross Schofield and Newt Tibbs and Hartley Bowdler, and even Bud Tipworthy held a place in the ranks through his connection with the Herald. They were all singing, and behind them Helen saw the flag covered barouche and her father, and beside him sat John Harkless, with his head bared. She glanced at Briscoe. He was standing on the seat in front of her and Minnie and both were singing. Meredith had climbed upon the back seat and was nervously fumbling at a cigarette. "Sing, Tom!" the girl cried to him excitedly.

"I should be ashamed not to," he answered, and dropped the cigarette and began to sing "John Brown's Body" with all his strength. With that she seized his hand, sprang up beside him, and over the swelling chorus her full soprano rose, lifted with all the power in her.

The barouche rolled into the square, and as it passed Harkless turned and bent a sudden gaze upon the group in the buckboard, but the western sun was in his eyes and he only caught a glimpse of a vague, bright shape and a dazzle of gold, and he was borne along and out of view down the singing street.

"Glory, glory, hallelujah!"

"Glory, glory, hallelujah!"

"Glory, glory, hallelujah!"

"As we go marching on."

The barouche stopped in front of the courthouse, and Harkless passed up a lane they made for him to the steps. When he turned to them to speak, they began to cheer again, and he had to wait for them to quiet down.

"We can't hear him from over here," said Briscoe. "We're too far off. Mr. Meredith, suppose you take the ladies closer in; I'll stay with the horses."

"He's a great man, isn't he?" Meredith said to Helen as he handed her out of the buckboard. "I've been trying to realize that he's the same old fellow I've been treating so familiarly all day long."

"Yes, he is a great man," she answered. "This is only the beginning."

"That's true," said Briscoe. "Only wait awhile, and we'll all go on to Washington and get a thrill down our backs when we hear the speaker say, 'The gentleman from Indiana,' and see John Harkless rise to speak. But hurry along, young people!"

Crossing the street, they met Miss Tibbs. She was wiping her streaming eyes with the back of her left hand and still mechanically waving her handkerchief with her right. "Isn't it beautiful?" she said, not ceasing to unconsciously flutter the little square of cambric.

"There was such a throng that I grew faint and had to come away. I don't mind your seeing me cry. Pretty near everybody cried when we walked up the steps and we saw that he was lame."

John Harkless looked down upon the attentive, earnest faces and into the kindly eyes of the Hoosier country people, and as he spoke the thought kept recurring to him that this was the place he had dreaded to come back to; that these were the people he had wished to leave, these who gave him everything they had to give, and this made it difficult to keep his tones steady and his throat clear. Helen stood so far from the steps (nor could she be induced to penetrate farther, though they would have made way for her) that only fragments reached her, but these she remembered.

"I have come home. Ordinarily a man needs to fall sick by the wayside or to be set upon by thieves in order to realize that nine-tenths of the world is Samaritan—and the other tenth only too busy or too ignorant to be. Down here he realizes it with no necessity of illness or wounds to make him know it, and if he does get hurt you send him to congress. And to come home as I have today—to see the home faces—I have come home."

"That's true," said Briscoe. "Only wait awhile, and we'll all go on to Washington and get a thrill down our backs when we hear the speaker say, 'The gentleman from Indiana,' and see John Harkless rise to speak. But hurry along, young people!"

DEARTH OF NEWS

Rigid Censorship Condenses War Intelligence to

NOTHING NEW GIVEN OUT

All the Information Coming From the Scene of War Is of a Stereotyped Character.This Situation Applies Particularly to Points Under Japanese Control.

London, April 8.—The brief dispatches from the seat of war in the far East appearing in the London newspapers during the last few days have all been of a stereotyped character, indicating that an active censorship is prevailing there and adding nothing to the information contained in the dispatches of the Associated Press. This applies particularly to points under Japanese control; but from the Russian side also it is evident care is being exercised to prevent the news of operations from leaking out. The Japanese fleet continues to cruise not far from Port Arthur.

A Chee Foo correspondent announces that a steamer which arrived there yesterday sighted Japanese warships off Wei Hai Wei. A correspondent at Seoul cables that a correspondent at Gensan has telegraphed informing him that it took him six days to travel 183 miles from Seoul to Gensan, owing to the state of the roads.

Refugees Receiving Aid.

St. Petersburg, April 8.—Through the United States government Russia has again been requested by Japan to allow the Japanese refugees on Sakhalin Island to be transported to Japan. The foreign office has already returned a favorable response to this request, but the delay in the completion of arrangements is due to the necessity of consulting the military officers of the island. The United States government probably will send a neutral ship to take the refugees off the island.

Russians Withdraw Across River. Seoul, April 8.—Telegrams have been received saying that the Russians are occupying six large border towns on the Tumen river in northeastern Korea. A Korean prefect has sent in a report that the Russians and Chinese who were at Yongampho, Korea, have withdrawn to Antung, across the Yalu river. Only a few merchants remain at Yongampho.

Reserve Seamen Mobilized.

St. Petersburg, April 8.—A mobilization of the reserve seamen in the Sebastopol district has been ordered, half of them to be used to reinforce the Russian crews at Port Arthur and Vladivostok, and the remainder to increase the strength of the Black Sea fleet.

Getting Ready for Battle. Tokyo, April 8.—Reliable reports received here from Seoul are to the effect that part of the Japanese fighting line had crossed the Yalu and established itself in strong positions there at several important points.

This Wise Principle Rules With Kentucky Miners.

Louisville, Ky., April 8.—A strike of over 4,000 coal miners at work in Kentucky, which seemed inevitable, has been averted. After three disagreements the wage committees representing operators and miners agreed to submit their differences to arbitration and abide by the result. The miners gained a slight advantage in having the question of hours eliminated from the proposals to be arbitrated, the day standing at eight hours. The miners demand the full Indianapolis scale, while the operators insisted on an average reduction of 4½ per cent. The arbitration committee began its work today.

"Open Shop" in Iowa Mines. Des Moines, Ia., April 8.—Local miners have been served with notices that the "open shop" will become effective with their craft after April 15. This is an entirely new issue in the miners' controversy and may cause a continuance of the strike locally.

Drivers Cause a Strike. Belleville, Ill., April 8.—All the mines of the Belleville field are idle on account of a strike of drivers who have refused to accept the scale agreed on last week. Fully seventy-five mines are closed by the strike.

FITTING EULOGY Was Bestowed Upon Hanna's Memory in Senate.

Washington, April 8.—The senate yesterday listened to eulogies of the late Senator Hanna. The galleries were well filled and the speakers were given close attention. Those who spoke were Messrs. Foraker, Scott, Cockrell, Platt of Connecticut, Cullom, Blackburn, Elkins, Fairbanks, Daniel Perkins, Depew, Beveridge, Dooliver, Kearns and Dick.

The Swayne impeachment proceedings, which has been looked upon as the only possible block to an early adjournment of congress, was disposed of in five minutes by the house, by the adoption of a resolution making the case a special order for Dec. 13 next. In the meantime the judiciary committee is to take additional testimony in the case. After disposing of a conference report on the army appropriation bill the house took up the bill extending the coastwise laws to the Philippines, and by a vote of 122 to 100, adopted a special rule to vote on this bill, after a debate of two hours.

POLICE MADE RAID On Luxuriant Get-Rich-Quick Offices at Chicago.

Chicago, April 8.—The police raided a luxuriant suite of offices occupied by the Pacific Underwriting and Trust company, K. H. Seaber & Co., investment bankers, and the Imperial Trust company of New Jersey. E. C. Talmadge and John N. Lucas were taken into custody, the former on a charge of obtaining money by means of a confidence game, and the latter for conspiracy with intent to defraud. A charge of the same kind was also lodged against Talmadge, whose name appeared on the door as agent of the Pacific Underwriting and Trust company and Western agent of the Imperial Trust company of New Jersey. The police declare the Talmadge-Lucas offices are the "clearing house" of numerous operations from New Jersey to Dakota.

Turkey Resumes Persecutions. Vienna, April 8.—Information comes to the Bulgarian diplomatic agency that the Turks have again begun the persecution of the Bulgarian population of Macedonia under the pretext of searching for arms. A dispatch from Sofia says that orders for the mobilization of the Bulgarian army have been suspended because the porte has made a fresh proposal for the settlement of difficulties between the countries.

The refusal of the Montgomery circuit court to impose a fine on Clarence C. The explosion, however, took place half a mile from where the king was." It has been definitely ascertained that the explosion which took place when King Alfonso was leaving the exhibition was due to an escape of gas, and no importance is attached to the incident.

WORKING GIRLS

A Cordial Invitation to Every Sick and Ailing Working Girl.

It is to these girls that Mrs. Pinkham holds out a helping hand, and extends a cordial invitation to correspond with her. Her long record of success in treating woman's ills makes her letters of advice of untold value to every ailing working girl, and from her wide experience and skill she quickly points the way to health. Her advice is free, and all letters are held by her in the strictest confidence. Address, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Don't put off writing her until your health is wrecked.

Girls who work are particularly susceptible to female ills, especially when obliged to stand on their feet from morning until night. Day in and day out, month in and month out, the year through, the working girl toils; she is often the bread winner of the family, and must work that others may live; whether she is sick or well, whether it rains or shines, whether it is warm or cold she must get to her place of employment and perform the duties exacted from her.

Among this class the symptoms of female diseases are early manifest by weak and aching backs, pain in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach; in consequence of frequent wetting of the feet monthly periods become painful and irregular, and frequently there are faint and dizzy spells, with loss of appetite, until life is a burden and it is hard work to drag about. All these symptoms point to a derangement of the female organism, and if taken in time can be easily and permanently cured.

Grateful Words from Working Girls Who Have Been Helped.

"I wish to thank you for the wonderful cure you have discovered for suffering girls. I am a working girl and do not believe there is a girl of my age in the country who has suffered more than I have with female disorders."

"Although ever so many physicians with their various remedies were tried, nothing seemed to relieve me of the terrible pains, and it seemed as though there was no help for me, until I was finally persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

"It worked like magic, for I had scarcely finished the second bottle when a great change was noticed in my whole general health, and in the three months time I felt like a new person."

Miss M. E. PAULSON, 914 Willow Ave., Hoboken, N.J.

"Seeing so many women and girls being helped by your medicine I thought I would try it. I was very irregular in regard to menstruation, and had had no menses for four months."

"I obtained a bottle of your medicine just to see if I could cure myself without going to a doctor. One bottle gave me great relief, and now I am a different girl altogether."

"I will never be without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as I know I would not be working to-day if I had not used your medicine."

OUT of the twenty delegates from Kansas Hearst secured six of them and a whole lot of free advertising.

THE one thing that a good many rooster voters would like to know just now is which Democratic party Judge Parker belongs to.

AMONG the notable tributes in the United States senate Thursday to the late Senator Hanna were those of Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge, of Indiana.

THIS is the season of the year when merchants need to tell the people by judicious advertising what they have to sell. The man who advertises and does it well gets the business.

THE idea of making a man a presidential candidate simply because he has never done or said anything for the party is a new one, but up to date this is all that has been offered in favor of the nomination of Judge Parker and the evidence seems to be all in.

WHEN a political party has reached a condition such that every man in it has a record is unavailable as a candidate for office, it is no wonder that the rank and file become disgusted with it and begin to look elsewhere for a political home that really is a home.

IN one ward at least in the city a well known democrat wanted to be a candidate for council. He made his desire known to the bosses and was told that he must not announce. He went again and had the money to pay for his announcement fee but was given to understand that the bosses simply wanted his vote and influence for a man they would select, but that he must ask nothing for himself. How is that for bossism? The chief spokesman to this democrat is a man who has never stood back when it came to asking favors for himself.

BRYAN AND THE REORGANIZERS

In the contest that is being waged in the democratic party between Bryan and the reorganizers, the position of Bryan is much more commendable than that held by his opponents.

Whatever may be justly said in criticism of Bryan it must be admitted that to date he has always been fearless in the advocacy of what he believed to be right and has at all times been consistent.

The reorganizers for the most part supported Bryan and the principals for which he stood and still stands. That is, they stood with Bryan in his efforts to wrest the democratic party from the Wall street clique headed by Cleveland.

Bryan has not changed his mind. He still has more faith in the rank and file of the democratic party than in the erstwhile eastern bosses. The reorganizers seem to care little for the principles they have been advocating, and apparently have lost faith in the democratic masses. With all fair-minded men Bryan's position is the more commendable.

THE Hearst people in Indiana are making Tom Taggart get a move on himself, but the indications are that he will be able to smile when the tug of war is over.

AND still the taxpayers have not been informed about that $75 attorney fee and the $25 extra compensation to the city attorney. In what city case did they appear to earn these fees? When did the council employ them?

THE prohibitionists of Indiana are among the best citizens of the state, and the men who composed the state prohibition convention at Indianapolis this week were for the most part sincere and honest men. For that reason we are all amazed at some things in the platform. For example, in order to discredit the Nicholson law the statement is made that since its enactment the number of saloons has been increased. The writer of the platform presumed that the people would be too ignorant to remember that the Nicholson law was passed in 1895 in the midst of the panic when the liquor traffic as well as all kinds of business was at the lowest ebb. Now either the brewers or prohibitionists are badly fooled. The former are doing all they can to have the law repealed on the theory that it decreased liquor sales, while the prohibitionists boldly assert that the law is stimulating the liquor business. If such matter was put in a democratic platform, the people would be inclined to say it was the work of a demagogue. Another surprising plank in the platform is the demand for the repeal of all our liquor laws. This plank it is said will lose to the party many of its conservative members.

Brick Masons Organize.

The brick and stone masons of this city organized a union last night with ten members. Charles O'Donnell, of Columbus, acted as the organizer. The officers elected are: Frank Knoke, president. Gus Tasker, recording secretary. Will Kaufman, corresponding sec'y. Gottlieb Tasker, treasurer. Ed Short, deputy. Perry Workman, financier.

Accidentally Hurt.

Oscar Lewis, former baggage master at the J. M. & I. station was quite badly hurt Thursday. He was at his father's, John M. Lewis, sr., helping to raise a scale shed when a piece of timber fell and struck him across the head. He was unconscious for a while; but is reported much better today.

The recital tonight by Miss MacDuff and her pupils will surely draw a large crowd.

Political Gossip.

Formal announcement has been made of the candidacy of Oscar H. Montgomery, of Seymour, for supreme court judge from the second judicial district. He has the loyal support of his county and the delegation to the state convention is enthusiastically his. Mr. Montgomery is a member of the state commission on uniform laws, having been appointed by Governor Mount.—Franklin Star.

Geo. W. Self, of Corydon, candidate for reporter of the supreme court passed through Seymour today.

It is said that Congressman Jas. E. Watson will be the chairman of the republican state convention. Judge Oscar H. Montgomery, of Seymour, was formally announced as a candidate for Judge of the Supreme court from the Second Judicial District in the Seymour REPUBLICAN of Monday. Judge Montgomery is an able man and as the Fourth District candidate should receive the entire vote of the Johnson county delegation.—Franklin Republican.

Moneydorf was five years old, a son of Money Maker, and a very fine horse. Mr. Munden had sold him to parties in Washington county for $800 and expected to deliver him April 15. He had been in the show ring twelve times and took eleven first premiums and one second. He had been trained some and had a trial mark of 2.24.

How Radium Defies "Laws."

As for later discoveries, well, here is radium; maybe you have seen it mentioned some where. The experimenters are telling us where it comes from, how to kill and cure with it; how it keeps itself warm; how many kinds of rays it emits; how unsafe a pound of it is; how it gets transformed into helium; how its emanations won't wash off; how they will go through lead two inches thick; indeed it shows itself disrespectful to what we have called laws, making it needful for us to amend our definitions and restate laws. There is no book on it, for before it could be written, so many new things would be found out about it that what had been written would do only for a preface.—From "New Ideas in Books of Science," by Kate Sanborn, in National Magazine for April.

Base Ball Rules.

About the only change of any importance in the base ball playing rules this year is the coaching rules, two coaches now being permitted on the lines instead of one. When men are on bases, they are not to incite the spectators to demonstrations and shall not use language which will in any manner refer to or reflect upon a player of the opposite side, the umpire or the spectator.

FIGURING IT UP

Candidates Now in a Position to Determine Where They Are At.

Indianapolis, April 8.—Secretary Sims of the Republican state committee, in looking over his list today, found that the following counties have selected delegates to the state convention: Allen, Benton, Boone, Carroll, Cass, Clark, Clay, Clinton, Daviess, Decatur, Dubois, Elkhart, Fayette, Fountain, Franklin, Fulton, Gibson, Grant, Hamilton, Hancock, Hendricks, Howard, Huntington, Jackson, Johnson, Knox, Kosciusko, Lagrange, Lake, Lawrence, Marshall, Martin, Miami, Monroe, Montgomery, Noble, Parke, Pulaski, Randolph, Ripley, Rush, Spencer, Starke, St. Joseph, Sullivan, Tippecanoe, Tipton, Union, Vermillion, Warren, Warrick, Washington, Wayne and White. The total number of delegates selected is in the neighborhood of 600, or less than half that will make up the convention. Probably two-thirds of the delegates will have been selected by tomorrow night. The situation has now reached a stage where the candidates and their friends are able to figure somewhat closely on what they have to depend.

A ten-line item with a one-line head, almost buried in one of the local newspapers today, conveyed a lot of interest to prominent politicians of both parties. It was a quotation from Simon P. Sheerin of this city to the effect that he favors the candidacy of Judge Parker for the Democratic nomination for president, and that he intended to go to the primaries this evening and cast his vote for Parker men. A few years ago the name of "Si" Sheerin was familiar to every politician in the country. He was for a long time connected with the state organization, and during the Cleveland campaigns he was secretary of the national committee. But when Bryanism made its advent he quit politics and left his party to fight its battles without his aid. He has not taken part since the campaign of 1894, but he indicates now that he expects to take an interest. It is believed here now that Sheerin and the crowd that he was affiliated with will support the Democratic nominee providing he is not Hearst or Bryan.

The Hearst "ad" that the New York congressman is about to start papers here, at St. Louis and Kansas City has not caused the great consternation among the reorganizers that might have been expected. On the other hand the Taggart crowd seems to regard the "ad" as a bluff for the purpose of forcing them to cover where they would not make such an effort to line up the state for Parker. It is being pointed out that even if Hearst should start a paper here within thirty days, that he would be too late to accomplish much for his presidential boom, as the delegates to the national convention are to be selected the 12th of May. However, the statement is made at the Hearst headquarters at the Hotel Claypool that he intends to launch a newspaper here right away.

One of the political surprises of the day was the statement that U. S. Jackson of Greenfield, better known as "Stokes" Jackson, is an out-and-out Parker man. It was thought that the erstwhile "king of the silver push," as he was called during the balmy days of Bryanism in this state, would land with the Hearst crowd. He was one of the last of the party leaders in Indiana to abandon hope that Bryan would be a candidate for a third nomination. He still admires the Nebraska orator, but he is for the New York jurist for president. One by one the so-called Bryan leaders seem to be lining up with the Parker men. Major G. V. Meizes of Mount Vernon, who was here over night, returned home today. He is confident that Judge Parker will be nominated, but he does not think the Indiana delegation should be instructed for any candidate.

Another Prominent Man Finds in Vinol the Only Cure for Stomach Troubles.

Hon. D. H. Barker, Deputy Sheriff of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes:

"As I have suffered for years with dyspepsia and stomach troubles, and Vinol has driven that dreaded disease from my system, I am only too pleased to state my experience for the benefit of others. My system became so enfeebled by indigestion that I was unable to work half the time. My remedies were given a trial, but Vinol was the only medicine that benefited, and finally cured me completely. I am so grateful to be rid of this trouble that I trust this testimonial will come to the eyes of other sufferers who may be benefited as I have been by Vinol."

HON. D. H. BARKER.

What Vinol did for Mr. Barker the W. F. Peter Drug Co., of this city, guarantee it will do for every person in Seymour suffering from a tired, overtaxed, or worn out stomach which cannot properly digest food.

Through the digestive organs the blood receives its body building material, and strength and vigor is given to every organ in the body. Vinol strengthens and tones up the weakened nerves of the stomach, and soon enables the sufferer to digest with ease the very food that once caused distress.

Vinol contains no drugs, and no nauseating oil, but it does contain the vital principles of cod liver oil which will heal and tone up irritated, worn, tired stomachs.

If any person in Seymour tries Vinol for stomach troubles, for a rundown, debilitated condition, to give strength to the weak, to gain flesh, to invigorate old people, to make rich, red, blood and build up the convalescent, to cure hard colds, stubborn coughs or bronchitis, and it fails to give satisfaction, we will refund the money paid for it. W. F. Peter Drug Co.

Reversed Again.

The Jackson circuit court has been reversed again by the Appellate court. This time the case of the B. & O. S-W., against Hunsucker, of Vallonia, who was given judgement for $3,000 damages by the lower court for personal injuries. Hunsucker was in the employ of the company as section man when he was hurt.

The opinion was written by Judge Wiley an abstract of which is as follows:

Specific allegations showing that if he used his senses plaintiff must have known of certain dangers attendant upon his work and the defects in what he was called to work with will control a general allegation that he was ignorant of them. 2. A master is not bound to serve as eyes and ears for a mature servant who possesses his faculties where nothing prevents the servant from using his own. 3. Under Paragraph 2 of Section 7083 Burns (employers' liability law) it is only necessary to show that plaintiff was injured by the negligence of a common servant of the same master to whose orders plaintiff was bound to conform and was at the time conforming and that he was himself exercising due care and diligence, in order to make out a cause of action against the master.

CRUSHES OUT THE LIFE

The most loathsome and repulsive of all living things is the serpent, and the vilest and most degrading of all human diseases is Contagious Blood Poison. The serpent sinks its fangs into the flesh and almost instantly the poison passes through the entire body. Contagious Blood Poison, beginning with a little ulcer, soon contaminates every drop of blood and spreads throughout the whole system. Painful swellings appear in the groins, a red rash and copper colored spots break out on the body, the mouth and throat become ulcerated, and the hair and eye brows fall out; but these symptoms are mild compared to the wretchedness and suffering that come in the latter stages of the disease when it attacks the bones and more vital parts of the body. It is then that Contagious Blood Poison is seen in all its hideousness. The deep eating abscesses and sickening ulcers and tumors show the whole system is corrupted and poisoned, and unless relief comes soon this serpent disease tightens its coils and crushes out the life. The only antidote for the awful virus is S. S. S. It is nature's remedy, composed entirely of vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. destroys every vestige of the poison, purifies the blood and removes all danger of transmitting the awful taint to others. Nothing else will do this. Strong mineral remedies, like mercury and potash, dry up the sores and drive in the disease, but do not cure permanently. Send for our home treatment book and write us if in need of medical advice or special information. This will cost you nothing.

N. W. AYER & SON

35th Birthday of the Great Advertising Firm.

The firm of N. W. Ayer & Son, of Philadelphia Pa. the largest advertising agency in the United States, celebrated yesterday the thirty-fifth anniversary of a business whose success and growth can be measured only by the progress of advertising itself in this country. Starting at a time when the immense resource and power of modern advertising were unknown, N. W. Ayer and his son, F. W. Ayer, entered the field with the idea of making it a business and conducting that business along Philadelphia methods.

They started, father and son, in a room only twenty feet square, on Sansom Street, near Seventh, near the present "Press" building, on April 1, 1869. Their capital was $250, and, as Mr. F. W. Ayer, the present head of the firm, laughingly said yesterday: "Father was the head, I was the office boy, and we were equal partners."

With this capital the firm proceeded to develop newspaper advertising, and in the first year did a business of $15,000. In the thirty-four years since they have furnished to the newspapers of the United States a total of more than $35,000,000 of advertising. Today they are dealing with 18,000 publications and their payments to these average $10,000 a day, or, roughly speaking, $3,600,000 a year.

"KEPT EVERLASTINGLY AT IT."

This enormous business enterprise was started with the settled conviction that Philadelphia was the city in which it could be made a success, and that Philadelphia business methods would make it a success. In the little room on Sansom Street, father and son adopted the now well known Philadelphia motto, "Keeping everlastingly at it brings success." On the walls of the two entire floors of the Mariner & Merchant Building, at Third and Chestnut Streets, and the two floors of press and work rooms in the rear, that motto is today engraved for the 229 employees of the big firm to read.

In 1873 N. W. Ayer passed to his rest and left the business and the name to his son, F. W. Ayer, who then took into his partnership an employee named Geo. O. Wallace, who died in 1887. Before Wallace's death another employee, Henry N. McKinney, had been taken into the firm in 1875, and finally Albert G. Bradford and Jarvis A. Wood were made partners in 1898, they also having come up through the business. These last three partners, together with F. W. Ayer, conduct the business today.

In 1876 increasing trade brought the firm to the then new "Times" Building, at Eighth and Chestnut Streets, where he rented one floor. This was before the "Times" moved in. During twenty-five years N. W. Ayer & Sons gradually spread until they occupied all the upper floors. Then moved in their present quarters at Third and Chestnut, on the site, by the way, of the first advertising agency in America, which was established by Volney B. Palmer, in 1841.

STORY OF A SUCCESS. Speaking of the immense growth of advertising, F. W. Ayer, the veteran member of the firm, said yesterday:—

"There was hardly such a thing as advertising until after the Civil War. Then the country began to feel its muscle and to stretch out into new lines. We have seen a great evolution in journalism. When we started it was in the days of the weekly newspaper which was a great power. There were the Toledo 'Blade,' the Atlanta 'Constitution,' Colonel Forney's 'Press' and the New York 'Tribune' and 'Sun.' But now increased postal facilities have rendered the daily paper the vehicle of news in every part of the country. The farmer 150 miles from the city gets it the same day it is issued.

"Yes, this is the day of the daily, and more and more is the public depending upon it for an account of what it cannot personally see and hear; and more and more the advertiser is depending upon it to tell the people that he cannot meet personally of the goods he has to sell.

"Do I think advertising will increase? Yes. We began in the days when staples were not advertised, when business men thought it all right for makers of patent medicines to advertise because they were supposed to bring a great profit. But for sugar, bread, biscuits and the like, on which profits were close, it was thought there was no margin for advertising.

ADVERTISING STAPLES. "That was the idea we started to disprove, and we have by no means exhausted the list of staples that will be exploited. Let me tell you something—the immense advertising of Uncle Sam's Biscuit was done by setting aside a fraction of a cent on each package.

"Yes, the old idea that certain things will not stand advertising is passed. Men are advertising today who told us five years ago that advertising would do them no good. Others who now say the same thing will themselves be advertising in another five years.

"Why," concluded Mr. Ayer, with a smile, "there were some who told us when we started that this business could not be run successfully from Philadelphia. Think of that!"

That this theory has long since been exploded is well witnessed by the enormous success of N. W. Ayer & Son, which has made the name of Philadelphia and a Philadelphia firm known from one end of the United States to the other.

That Is What Missionaries Say of the Hereros Outbreak.

OPINIONS ARE MIXED

Some Say, on the Other Hand, That the Natives Brought the Trouble Upon Themselves.

One of the Causes Is the Universal Hatred Hereros Entertain For Newcomers.

Berlin, April 8.—Missionaries are not unanimous in blaming the whites exclusively for the rising of the Hereros in German Southwest Africa. A missionary of the name of Diehl, stationed at Okahandja, mentions as the causes of the rising the universal hatred which the Hereros entertained for newcomers, combined with unjust treatment. Missionary Diehl adds that the Hereros themselves are largely to blame and says that the missionaries have repeatedly warned them against debts, mortgages and the alienation of their lands, but that they preached to deaf ears.

The missionary adds: "The secret hatred, perfidiousness and insincerity which characterizes the Hereros brought on the calamity." He prophesies a terrible vengeance if the Hereros fall into the hands of the German soldiers, who are embittered to the utmost by the savage barbarities committed on the settlers. A circular written by Chief Samma Hereros was published at Okahandja, in which under a seal of secrecy the chief commanded that missionaries, English half-breeds, Boers, Bergdarmars and Namas be spared, saying "On these we will not lay our hands."

Tibetans Aim Badly.

Kalato, Tibet, April 8.—Two hundred Tibetans at Samonda, in treacherously firing a volley at a party of British officers whom they invited to parley with them, aimed badly. No one was injured, but the action is supposed to indicate the tactics which the Tibetans intend to employ at Garu. Reinforcements are arriving at Garu to oppose the British advances.

Victim of Flood.

Evansville, Ind., April 8.—The water in the flooded districts of southern Indiana continues to recede. One more name has been added to the list of drowned in this flood. Harry Slevens, aged 15, fell from a load of wood while driving through the back water in Knox county and the wagon passing over his body held him in the water until he was drowned.

St. Louis, April 8.—Permanent headquarters for the national Democratic convention to be held here July 6 have been established at the Hotel Jefferson.
